

Exhibit 147

Exhibit 141

60 MINUTES

EPISODES OVERTIME TOPICS THE TEAM SUBSCRIBE

THE STAND

NEW LIMITED SERIES
NOW STREAMING...RISE WITH EMPATHY...
HORROR AND EXCITEMENT...
—THE DAILY READER

CBS ALL ACCESS

TRY 1 WEEK FREE

FIRED DIRECTOR OF U.S. CYBER AGENCY CHRIS KREBS EXPLAINS WHY PRESIDENT TRUMP'S CLAIMS OF ELECTION INTERFERENCE ARE FALSE

Chris Krebs, a lifelong Republican, was put in charge of the agency handling election security by President Trump two years ago. When Krebs said the election was the country's most secure ever, Mr. Trump fired him. Now, Krebs speaks to Scott Pelley.

2020
NOV 30 CORRESPONDENT
SCOTT PELLEY

FACEBOOK TWITTER REDDIT FLIPBOARD

CBS ALL ACCESS

THIS VIDEO IS AVAILABLE ON CBS ALL ACCESS

WATCH NOW

60 MINUTES ALL ACCESS SUBSCRIBERS, CLICK HERE

Though the transition has begun, President Trump remains largely holed up in the White House tweeting false accusations of a rigged election from behind a crumbling wall of lawsuits. No legal challenge, no recount, no audit has changed the outcome in any state. Mr. Trump's claim that millions of votes were deleted or switched is denied by the official he chose to secure the nation's election systems. Christopher Krebs called the 2020 vote "the most secure in American history" which promptly got him fired. Tonight, in his first interview since he was dismissed, Krebs tells us why he believes the vote was accurate and why saying otherwise puts the country in danger.

Chris Krebs: I have confidence in the security of this election because I know the work that we've done for four years in support of our state and local partners. I know the work that the intelligence community has done, the Department of Defense has done, that the FBI has done, that my team has done. I know that these systems are more secure. I know based on

RECENT SEGMENTS

Companies and foreign countries vying for your DNA

China's push to control American health care future

Stories from those who lost loved ones to COVID-19

How did rioters breach the U.S. Capitol on January 6?

NFL QB Alex Smith's comeback from nearly losing his leg

CBS DRAMAS
NOW STREAMING
SEAL TEAM ALL RISE BLUE BLOODS
CBS ALL ACCESS TRY 1 WEEK FREE

GET THE NEWSLETTER

Get the best of 60 Minutes delivered to your inbox.

enter your email

Sign Up

NYSCEF DOC. NO. 43
Why saying otherwise puts the country in danger.

RECEIVED NYSCEF: 02/05/2021

Page 4 of 12

GET THE NEWSLETTER

Get the best of 60 Minutes delivered to your inbox.

enter your email

Sign Up

By signing up, you agree to the CBS Terms of Use and acknowledge the data practices in our Privacy Policy.

Receive updates, offers & other information from the CBS family of companies & our partners. Opt out through the unsubscribe link in marketing email.

Chris Krebs

His agency, known by its acronym, "CISA" helps secure computer systems anywhere that a security breach could be catastrophic, nuclear power plants for example, and the election hardware in all 50 states.

→ Ousted Trump cybersecurity director debunks 2020 election rumors

Scott Pelley: Why are you speaking to us?

Chris Krebs: I'm not a public servant anymore, but I feel I still got some public service left in me. And, you know, it's hard once you take that oath to uphold and defend the constitution from threats foreign and domestic, it's hard to walk away from that. And if I can reinforce or confirm for one person that the vote was secure, the election was secure, then I feel like I've done my job.

Krebs, who's 43, worked on cybersecurity in the Bush administration, became director of cybersecurity policy at Microsoft and joined the Trump Department of Homeland Security in 2017. His priority was to stop anyone from repeating Russia's 2016 election hacking and disinformation.

Chris Krebs: So we spent something on the order of three and a half years of gaming out every possible scenario for how a foreign actor could interfere with an election. Countless, countless scenarios.

Scott Pelley: So back in 2017, as you're looking ahead to the election in 2018 and then ultimately the election in 2020, you have a to-do list. And the to-do list includes what?

Chris Krebs: Paper ballots. Paper ballots give you the ability to audit, to go back and check the tape and make sure that you got the count right. And that's really one of the keys to

Scott Pelley: So back in 2017, as you're looking ahead to the election in 2018 and then ultimately the election in 2020, you have a to-do list. And the to-do list includes what?

Chris Krebs: Paper ballots. Paper ballots give you the ability to audit, to go back and check the tape and make sure that you got the count right. And that's really one of the keys to success for a secure 2020 election. 95% of the ballots cast in the 2020 election had a paper record associated with it. Compared to 2016, about 82%.

Scott Pelley: And with a paper record, you can go back and verify what the machine is saying by physically counting the paper?

Chris Krebs: That gives you the ability to prove that there was no malicious algorithm or hacked software that adjusted the tally of the vote, and just look at what happened in Georgia. Georgia has machines that tabulate the vote. They then held a hand recount and the outcome was consistent with the machine vote.

Scott Pelley: And that tells you what?

Chris Krebs: That tells you that there was no manipulation of the vote on the machine count side. And so that pretty thoroughly, in my opinion, debunks some of these sensational claims out there-- that I've called nonsense and a hoax, that there is some hacking of these election vendors and their software and their systems across the country. It's-- it's just-- it's nonsense.

Before the election, as the president called mail-in ballots a fraud, Krebs' team released a report highlighting the safeguards built into mail-in voting. His agency knocked down rumors and exposed an Iranian plot to intimidate voters. On Election Day, Krebs assembled a team in his command center to defend the vote.

Krebs in the Oval Office with President Trump. Mr. Trump put Krebs in charge of the agency handling election security two years ago.

Chris Krebs: We had the Department of Defense Cyber Command. We had the National Security Agency. We had the FBI. We had the Secret Service. We also had representatives from the Election Assistance Commission, which is the federal independent agency that supports the actual administration of elections. We had representatives from some of the-- vendors, the election equipment vendors. And they're critical because they're the ones out there that know what's going on on the ground if there's any sort of issue with some of their systems. And we had representatives from state and local governments.

Scott Pelley: How did the day go?

FOR OFFICIAL USE ONLY. APPROVED FOR PUBLIC RELEASE UNDER E.O. 13676
Case 0:22-cv-00098-JMB Document 457-18 Filed 12/13/24 Page 6 of 12
NYSCEF Doc. No. 143
support the actual date of filing. The document is presented in its original electronic form.
vendors, the election equipment vendors. And they're critical because they're the ones out there that know what's going on on the ground if there's any sort of issue with some of their systems. And we had representatives from state and local governments.

RECEIVED NYSCEF: 02/05/2021

Scott Pelley: How did the day go?

Chris Krebs: It was quiet. And there was no indication or evidence that there was any sort of hacking or compromise of election systems on, before or after November 3rd.

And yet, this was the president, November 5.

President Trump on November 5: And this is a case where they're trying to steal an election, they're trying to rig an election.

Nine days after Election Day, Mr. Trump tweeted falsely that machines from Dominion Voting Systems deleted millions of votes. Krebs couldn't remain silent. His agency and its election security partners answered with a public statement.

Scott Pelley: To quote from the November 12th statement that CISA and its partners put out, "The November 3rd election was the most secure in American history. There is no evidence that any voting system deleted or lost votes or changed votes or was in any way compromised."

Chris Krebs: Yeah, I stand by that.

Scott Pelley: The president tweeted after that statement, quote, "The recent statement by Chris Krebs on the security of the 2020 election was highly inaccurate, in that there were massive improprieties and fraud." Do you remember what the president said at the end of that tweet?

Chris Krebs: Oh, I was terminated? Is that-- yes. I recall that.

Scott Pelley: Were you surprised?

Chris Krebs: I don't know if I was necessarily surprised. It's not how I wanted to go out. I think I-- the thing that upsets me the most about that is I didn't get a s-- chance-- to say goodbye to my team. And I'd worked with them for three and a half years, in the trenches. Building an agency, putting CISA on the national stage. And I love that team. And I didn't get a chance to say goodbye, so that's what I'm most upset about.

Since he was fired, about a dozen Republican senators have vouched for Krebs' work.

Since he was fired, about a dozen Republican senators have vouched for Krebs' work.

Scott Pelley: The president's essentially saying in that tweet that you did a lousy job, that you and your team blew it, and allowed massive fraud, all across the country.

Chris Krebs: We did a good job. We did it right. I'd do it a thousand times over.

Still, the president's lawyers have filed at least a dozen suits and spun conjecture without evidence.

Rudy Giuliani on November 19: And you should be more astounded by the fact that our votes are counted in Germany and in Spain...

Scott Pelley: As you watched Rudy Giuliani's news conference at the Republican National Committee headquarters, what were you thinking?

Chris Krebs: It was upsetting because what I saw was a apparent attempt to undermine confidence in the election, to confuse people, to scare people. It's not me, it's not just CISA. It's the tens of thousands of election workers out there that had been working nonstop, 18-hour days, for months. They're getting death threats for trying to carry out one of our core democratic institutions, an election. And that was, again, to me, a press conference that I just-- it didn't make sense. What it was actively doing was undermining democracy. And that's dangerous.

Scott Pelley: Let me ask for your reaction to some of the vote fraud that the president and his team have been alleging. Votes tabulated in foreign countries.

Chris Krebs: So all votes in the United States of America are counted in the United States of America. I don't-- I don't understand this claim. All votes in the United States of America are counted in the United States of America. Period.

Scott Pelley: Voting machines corrupted by mysterious actors in Venezuela.

Chris Krebs: So again, there's no evidence that any machine that I'm aware of has been manipulated by a foreign power. Period.

Scott Pelley: Communist money from China and Cuba used to influence the election.

Chris Krebs: Look, I think these-- we can go on and on with all the farcical claims that-- alleging-- interference in the 2020 election, but the proof is in the ballots. The recounts are consistent with the initial count, and to me, that's further evidence, that's confirmation that the systems used in the 2020 election performed as expected, and the American people should have 100% confidence in their vote.

Scott Pelley: In a news conference a lawyer who was representing the president at the time, Sidney Powell, said specifically that the Dominion Company's voting machines, quote...

Sidney Powell on November 19: It can set and run an algorithm that probably ran all over the country to take a certain percentage of votes from President Trump and flip them to President Biden.

Chris Krebs: Votes were cast in Georgia, for instance, again, on paper. They were counted by a machine. They were subsequently recounted by hand. The outcomes of that count were consistent. If there was an algorithm that was flipping votes or changing votes, it didn't work. I think the more likely explanation, though, is that there is no algorithm, that the systems performed as intended. That the series of security controls before, during, and after an

NYSCEF DOC. NO. 143

Chris Krebs: Votes were cast in Georgia, for instance, again, on paper. They were counted by a machine. They were subsequently recounted by hand. The outcomes of that count were consistent. If there was an algorithm that was flipping votes or changing votes, it didn't work. I think the more likely explanation, though, is that there is no algorithm, that the systems performed as intended. That the series of security controls before, during, and after an election protected those systems from any sort of misbehavior.

Most elections are run by each state's secretary of state. But not one of them, Democrat or Republican has reported ballot rigging that would change the election. Some are paying a price for integrity.

Chris Krebs: And it's, in my view, a travesty what's happening right now with all these death threats to election officials, to secretaries of state. I want everybody to look at Secretary Bockvar in Pennsylvania, Secretary Benson in Michigan, Secretary Cegavske in Nevada, Secretary Hobbs in Arizona. All strong women that are standing up, that are under attack from all sides, and they're defending democracy. They're doin' their jobs. Look at-- look at Secretary Raffensperger in Georgia, lifelong Republican. He put country before party in his holding a free and fair election in that state. There are some real heroes out there. There are some real patriots.

At the Capitol, the stage is going up for Inauguration Day, January 20. Well before that, on December 14 the presidential electors will cast their ballots—which should settle the election. Christopher Krebs told us it's ironic that the disruption and disinformation he feared from abroad came, instead, from Pennsylvania Avenue.

Scott Pelley: The president says you're dead wrong about election security, and to him you say what?

Chris Krebs: There is no foreign power that is flipping votes. There's no domestic actor flipping votes. I did it right. We did it right. This was a secure election.

Produced by Rachael Morehouse. Associate producers, Jacqueline Kalil and Cassidy McDonald. Broadcast associates, Ian Flickinger and Sheena Samu. Edited by Sean Kelly.

© 2020 CBS Interactive Inc. All Rights Reserved.

Scott Pelley

Correspondent, "60 Minutes"

Taboola Feed

Our 5 Stock Picks To Retire Early

The Motley Fool | Sponsored

Why You Should Stop Drinking $10 Grocery Store Wine

Naked Wines | Sponsored

Introducing The Head Turning 2021 Mazda CX-5

Mazda CX-5 Clearance | Search Ads | Sponsored

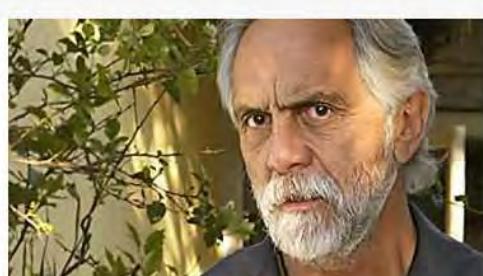

These Cars Are So Loaded It's Hard to Believe They're So Cheap

Luxury SUVs | Search Ads | Sponsored

Skip the Doctor and Upgrade to the World's

Tommy Chong: Throw Away Your CBD Now

Skip the Doctor and Upgrade to the World's Smartest VPAP

The Easy Blog by Breatheeasy.com | Sponsored

Tommy Chong: Throw Away Your CBD Now

Tommy Chong | Sponsored

Shop Now

Getting this Treasure is impossible! Prove us wrong

Hero Wars | Sponsored

"Cowboys for Trump" founder, who vowed to return with guns to Capitol for...

CBS News

Fired Florida COVID-19 data scientist
Rebekah Jones arrested and charged wit...

CBS News

Finally - New Clear, Comfy, Sociable Mask, With Anti-Fog Arrives In United States

Crystal Shield | Sponsored

Amazon CEO Dumps $1 Billion In Amazon Stock

The Motley Fool | Sponsored

Finally - New Clear, Comfy, Sociable Mask, With Anti-Fog Arrives In United States

Crystal Shield | Sponsored

Amazon CEO Dumps $1 Billion In Amazon Stock

The Motley Fool | Sponsored

The Greatest Rock & Roll Guitarist Of All-Time, Ranked

Heart of Cars | Sponsored

Man accused of beating officers with bat during Capitol riot said he wasn't there "f...

CBS News

Reporter says she was threatened with arrest after trying to ask Rep. Marjorie...

CBS News

Netflix Cancellations And Renewals: Effective Immediately

thedelite.com | Sponsored

The Peppy Pet Ball Is The Ultimate Remote Dog Toy

Pet Ball is an active rolling ball that your pet will fall in love with and will keep your pet busy all day long! It's the perfe...

Dog Training Device | Sponsored

Pet Ball is an active rolling ball that your pet will fall in love with and will keep your pet busy all day long! It's the perfect dog toy...

Dog Training Device | Sponsored

Seniors Born Before 1964 Should Claim These Discounts

Senior Perks | Sponsored

Kamala Harris won't be moving into vice president's residence at Naval Observato...

CBS News

Trump's Mar-a-Lago move draws criticism from some wealthy neighbors in "extreme...

CBS News

This Could Explain Why 2021 Implants Are Almost Being Given Away

Dental Implants | Search ads | Sponsored

People Who Diet According to Body Type Lose More Weight

VShred | Sponsored

